Newsletter

News from the Board

We need your help!

We need someone to complete this term as Program Chair/Vice President in light of Claire's departure. Please do not assume we are looking for a Claire clone; we are not. The work involves securing the monthly program speakers and making the necessary arrangements. You'll get lots of help. The 2016 program is in place as is much of the 2017 program. We need someone to step up and join our board, a great team of volunteers, to do this important work. Please contact me to learn more.

Reminder -- temporary meeting location change

Because the Bainbridge Island library will be undergoing remodeling that affects the large upstairs meeting room, we have secured alternative space to use. Our second and third Friday meetings and some SIGs will be held at the LDS church on Bainbridge Island.

Member's Corner

by Aimee Mroz

The fun of genealogical research are the surprises along the way while uncovering your family's history. Prior to last November, I could barely name my grandparents and had no idea of any other place my ancestors had ever lived before Seattle. BIGS taught me where to start my research, and since then I've obsessively logged around 400 hours of research this year. Every day seemed like one surprise after another.

One important discovery was the book A Genealogy of the Quick Family in America (1625-1942) 317 years. This book helped to break down a brick wall surrounding my 6th great grandparents that had hampered my research further back to the late 18th century in New Jersey.

My mom and I just returned from New York where we saw a silver bowl at The Metropolitan Museum of Art that had belonged to my 9th great grandparents. They lived in Manhattan.

The address is 8677 Madison Avenue, just north of Ordway School. The parking and entry closest to the meeting room is on the northwest corner. Watch for email announcements for each affected meeting.

Great Britain Special Interest Group (SIG) coming in 2017

We are excited to report that BIGS member Brian Quick has offered to lead a special interest group focused on Great Britain (England, Wales, Scotland) research. Hold Friday January 13, a lucky day for you if you have ancestors from Great Britain, for the first meeting. Watch for email from Brian in November to kick off organizing efforts for this SIG.

Tip of the Month

Have you looked at the library and historical society websites in the towns and counties where your ancestors lived? They may have valuable information like cemetery and vital records. You may even find someone researching the same family!

I originally found out about the bowl in the book about the Quick Family. FindAGrave has interesting information on them too.

If you'd like to share your story in a future BIGS newsletter, please contact Sue Hassenmiller.

Derived from Dutch, Scandinavian, and English sources, brandywine bowls were used on festive occasions such as the kindermaal, when women gathered to welcome a newborn child. Following Dutch custom, a bowl would be filled with brandy and raisins and passed from guest to guest. Here, boldly chased tulips create a sumptuous effect. The bowl belonged to Theunis Jacobsen Quick, a wealthy baker, and his wife, Vrutje Janse Haring.

Genealogy News

With social networking and "one world tree" becoming a big part of the genealogy world, privacy for living people is more at risk. The National Genealogical Society has recently published a good article on this topic that's well worth reading in their UpFront blog.

One of our favorite guest speakers, Karen Sipe, just published a book about her ancestors, The History of the Youtsey Family in America Starting in 1744. Congratulations Karen! You might want to read it to get some ideas about how to research or write about your ancestors.

Some of us got to hear Blaine Bettinger, "the genetic genealogist", speak at this month's Northwest Genealogy Conference in Arlington. Did you know that he has two new books - Genetic Genealogy in Practice and The Family Tree Guide to DNA Testing and Genetic Genealogy?

BIGS Website New Links

*All new entries are tagged with * on our website so it's easy to see what's new.*

The Ancestor Hunt has a fabulous collection of more than 17,500 links to free newspapers all organized by country and state. Go to Newspapers on our Links page.

Autosomal DNA statistics is a chart that helps you determine how you might be related to an autosomal DNA match. This is from the International Society of Genetic Genealogy WIKI, a great resource for anyone using DNA to aid their genealogy research. You can find it on our Links page under Genetics & DNA > DNA > Reference.

The Genetic Genealogist is Blaine Bettinger's blog about using DNA to aid your genealogy research. You can find it on our Links page under Genetics & DNA > DNA > Reference.

Kelly's Directory of Monmouthshire & South Wales is a 1920 Directory. Find it under Places > Wales on our Links page. Thank you Sylvia Nelson for sharing this.

We talked about Reclaim the Records, a group of not-for-profit genealogists, historians, researchers and others who are filing Freedom of Information requests to get public data back into the public domain in the May newsletter but I never added to our Links page. They've been busy, adding more New York, New Jersey and Missouri records. Thanks to Sue Hassenmiller for reminding me about this great site. You can find it under United States on our Links page.

Unknown No Longer is the Virginia Historical Society's Index to their collection of manuscripts relating to Virginians of African American descent. Thanks to Sue Elfving for finding this for us.

Check out our Members page to find out what other BIGS members are researching. If you'd like to add or change your interests, just let us know.

Library

See our Library page if you'd like to borrow a book or CD from another BIGS member. If you're willing to loan or do lookups of your books or CDs, just email us to have them added to the list.

Other BIGS Business

BIGS-net

BIGS-net, is an email discussion group, where BIGS members communicate with other members, e.g., post a question, identify a resource, carpool to a class, meet informally. We often post about free access to premium websites and discounted genealogy subscription deals there too. Join the network by clicking the Network button on our website or contact Sue Hassenmiller, the BIGS-net moderator, if you have questions.

Mentors

Would you like a new perspective on your genealogy research? An annual consultation with a mentor is a benefit of BIGS membership. Contact Betty to find a mentor who can best help you.

Basics Class

If you're a new BIGS member or would like to attend a Basics class, please contact Mary Ferm. Basics classes are open to all members. Sometimes we all need a refresher.

Facebook

Visit us on Facebook. Just scroll to the bottom of the page on our website and click on the Facebook logo!

BIGS scholarships

Any member in good standing can apply to the BIGS Scholarship Fund for funds to take a genealogy related class. Up to four individual scholarships may be awarded. There's a maximum of one scholarship per membership each year. Funds may be used for transportation, class materials and class fees. You can submit your application by email or in person to Betty.

Feedback and ideas from our members are always welcome. BIGS is your group so let us know what you'd like to see!
