BIGS News - Message from President Betty

Membership survey and what we learned

Here are some of the key things we learned from the recent member satisfaction survey in comparison to the previous survey in early 2014. Our thanks to all who responded.

In both surveys, meetings with speaker presentations and the website were among the top 3 in importance. In 2014, "opportunities to connect with others" was rated the second most important activity. In 2016, we asked for input about the relative importance of several different ways to "connect" and the degree of active participation we might expect. We asked about social time at meetings, ways for members to share their knowledge and experience in meetings, small informal groups ("genealogy play dates"), and coffee/lunch gatherings.

Members sharing findings, breakthroughs, experiences in meetings (e.g., one-time or ongoing Special Interest Group or program meetings) ranked more important than the other activities. Social time at meetings was ranked somewhat more important than "genealogy play dates" or coffee/lunch gatherings.

You can help. Several respondents expressed willingness to help the organization, sharing your knowledge and experiences in meetings. Since the responses were anonymous, we don't know who you are! So, please let Claire or I know so we can explore how you might contribute to future meetings.

In both surveys, about 70% of members reported being very satisfied with being a member of BIGS (67% in 2014 and 71% in 2016) with most of the remaining respondents reporting being mostly satisfied. A few individuals in each survey reported being somewhat satisfied. The overall survey response rate in 2014 was about 41% compared to about 50% in 2016. The complete survey results can be found here.

Members' Corner

- James Murray's Watch

by Pat Murray Scott

Clipping from Wheeling Register Newspaper:

January 15, 1883

"The contest for the Knights of Labor silver watch, chain and charm closed at the K. of L Hall over McGregor's store on Saturday night. Mr. James Murray, a stonecutter of this city, held the lucky number and carried off the watch. Ticket No 73 drew it. He is the happiest man in town."

- My narrative version:

"Men's laughter tumbled down the stairwell from the Hall above McGregor's Store. At the doorway, one by one, men, laborers all, stepped into the winter air rising from the river. They closed their collars against the bite and hollered "goodnights" into the wind. One man paused, raised a silver watch and chain in reply, and braced himself for the walk to his house on the edge of the Ohio River."

- I relish fictionalizing my great-grandfather's moment of success. I want to imagine the moment when James Murray walked in the door of his home in Bellaire, Belmont County, Ohio, with such a prize in his hand. An Irish Stonemason of earned repute, he survived the Great Famine, and supported his family for twenty years by building roads, walls, bridges in Ireland before emigrating in 1869.

This Irishman deserves this bit of Irish luck, and he should be laughing all the way home. A simple prize long due.

If you'd like to share your story in a future BIGS newsletter, please contact Sue Hassenmiller.

Genealogy News

- The New England Historic Genealogical Society \(NEHGS\) is offering free access to all of their New York databases for the entire month of June. Sign up for free access here.
- The Historical Society of Pennsylvania is building a searchable database of William Still's, the "conductor of the Underground Railroad", journal. This journal lists biographies of some 400 fugitive slaves who Still aided in the 1850s. If you can't wait for the database, you can see photos of the journal online now. Read more about this story here. Find the link under Ethnic Groups > African Americans on our Links page.
- If you're researching your Irish ancestry, RootsIreland can be an important source. It's pretty pricey though at $255 annually. They've just introduced more affordable options though: monthly for $28, or a 1 day for $11. I can get a lot done in a day if I turn off my phone and email!

Tip of the Month

Even though a genealogy site may provide a general search function, all of the record sets on the site may not be searched when you use it. There may be some records that aren't indexed or that haven't been transcribed correctly. If you don't find what you're looking for, you may just want to try browsing through the records as well as searching.

New Links

- Websites for genealogy research are listed on our Links page. Here are this month's new links. All new entries are tagged with * on our website so it's easy to see what's new.
- FamilySearch now has a collection of United States Enumeration District Maps online to help in researching census records. An enumeration district was an area that could be covered by a single census taker in one census period and varied in size from one city block in urban areas to an entire county in rural areas. Go to Census Records on our Links page.
- Looking for the latest genealogy news on a specific topic like Polish genealogy or preservation? Try the Genealogy Blog Finder. Go to Genealogy News blogs on our Links page for this link.
- Thank you, Sue Elfving, for sharing a link to the complete historical timeline for Alabama through 1840. Go to Places > United States > Alabama on our Links page.
- Genealogie Online from the Dutch archives has a great English-language interface. Go to Places > Holland on our Links page.

Other BIGS Business

- BIGS-net
- BIGS-net, is an email discussion group, where BIGS members communicate with other members, e.g., post a question, identify a resource, carpool to a class, meet informally. We often post about free access to premium websites and discounted genealogy subscription deals there too. Join the network by clicking the Network button on our website or contact Sue Hassenmiller, the BIGS-net moderator, if you have questions.
- Mentors
- Would you like a new perspective on your genealogy research? An annual consultation with a mentor is a benefit of BIGS membership. Contact Betty to find a mentor who can best help you.
- Basics Class
- If you're a new BIGS member or would like to attend a Basics class, please contact Mary Ferm. Basics classes are open to all members. Sometimes we all need a refresher.
- Facebook
- Visit us on Facebook. Just scroll to the bottom of the page on our website and click on the Facebook logo!

BIGS scholarships are available. Any member in good standing can apply to the BIGS Scholarship Fund for funds to take a genealogy related class. Up to four individual scholarships may be awarded. There's a maximum of one scholarship per membership each year. Funds may be used for transportation, class materials and class fees. You can submit your application by email or in person to Betty or Claire.

Feedback and ideas from our members are always welcome. BIGS is your group so let us know what you'd like to see!
